FOREWORD

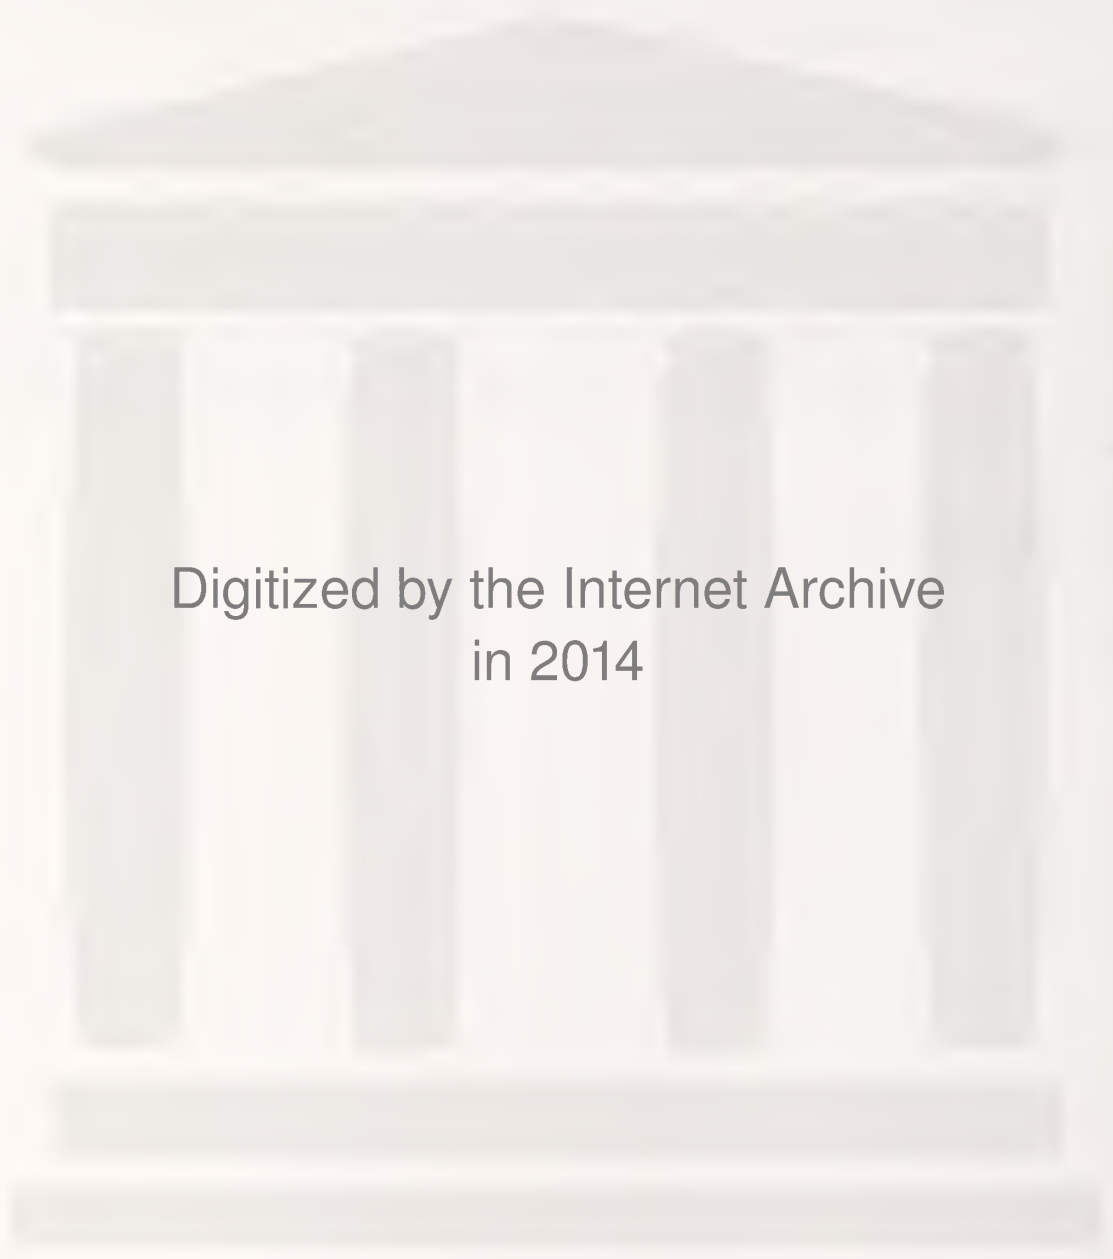

Buffalo Presbyterian Church has long interested me because my forbears, Thomas Donnell, Sr. and Robert Donnell, Sr., were founding members in 1756. With their families, they were part of the Nottingham company which first settled the "Guilford Section" of Rowan County, (then Anson Co.), about 1750.

This work represents three years research of records, numerous site visits and oral family histories. It is an exhaustive study of marked and unmarked burial sites within the church cemetery.

Of the available sources, I particularly acknowledge the work of Reverend Samuel Meek Rankin and his wife Mary Lee Wharton who recorded the cemetery from 1910 -1931. their recordings corroborated much of my research, and provided otherwise unavailable information. Stone markers and paper records alike have weathered and disappeared with passage of 234 years. However, all burials that can be reasonably substantiated have been included.

BUFFALO PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Greensboro, Guilford County
North Carolina

Near the beginning of the year 1750, and probably at the time of the formation of Anson County, the agents of the Old Nottingham Presbyterian Church of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania arranged with the representative of Lord Granville to have 33 sections of land, more or less, set aside in that part of Anson Co. which would later become Rowan, then later Guilford Co. A section contained 640 acres of land and measured one mile by one mile. The land was to be colonized by a group of Scotch-Irish, made up predominantly of those of the Presbyterian faith.

The first group left from Rising Sun, Pennsylvania, (now in Maryland as a result of the state line agreement of 1767). The earliest land grants are dated in December of 1753. Some of the land surveys which required payment and individual identity for the Entry and Warrant service are dated in 1751. This suggests that some company members were here by then. By the time the first grants were issued two new counties had been established by the North Carolina Legislature. In 1752 Orange was created to the east, and in 1753 Rowan was created from Anson. Rowan and Orange had a common north-south border. The Presbyterian colony was in Rowan, although some settlers had their land in Orange.

Examination of the Granville land grant records indicates that the majority of the grants lay between the Reedy Fork Creek, the Haw River, and North Buffalo Creek. Other land claimed by colony members was in the area of South Buffalo and Alamance Creek, and in Surry County.

On October 16, 1768, Adam Mitchell, Sr., provided land for the first church. The deed was made out to John McKnight and William Anderson as trustees for the Presbyterian Congregation on the Waters of North Buffalo for 20 shillings current money. The land was for use of the Presbyterian Meeting House to those that are Members of the Synod of Philadelphia in Pennsylvania and New York, adjoining William Anderson, Thomas Donnell, John Mitchell. The deed was proved at the February Court 1769, Rowan Co., and is recorded in book 7:72, Rowan County Register. An enlarged copy of the original deed may be seen in the history room at the church.

The first building, a log hut, was named "North Buffalo Creek Presbyterian Church". The name was appropriate because of the large number of woods buffalo which roamed the area. The site was at the northwest corner of the present cemetery. At a later time a more suitable building was erected in the southwest corner of the present cemetery. It is estimated that the new frame building would seat 1000 people. It was completed close to the end of the Revolutionary War. The land held by the congregation was estimated to cover 18 square miles at the time the second church was completed.

The third church was built on the present site (now on 16th Street, Greensboro), in 1827, and has gone through a series of changes and improvements since that time. In the 234 years of its existence, only 14 pastors have served the congregation. David Caldwell, physician, teacher, mediator, minister and patriot was the first, and served the church for 15 years. He was also responsible for the development of Alamance Presbyterian Church, Rowan/Guilford County.

The men of Buffalo Church were the mainstay of the area militia. They held firm in their decision of self determination against the Crown. Many served in the Revolutionary War for periods of time in the North Carolina Militia, and the Continental Line. They followed their leaders in skirmishes with the British in Georgia, North and South Carolina. A large number participated in the Battle of Guilford County Court House.

THE CHURCH RECORDS

*The earliest written records of the church date from 1773 and are sketchy. In the 1860's Reverend James Calvin Alexander's research brought to light information about the early church. His notes have been lost from the church records, but reference to his research is made in Reverend Samuel Meek Rankin's notes and in his book Buffalo Church and Her People

MANAGEMENT OF THE CHURCH CEMETERY

In the early days of Buffalo Church there was no need to assign burial plots. The family of the deceased was allowed to select the site for the burial. Later it became necessary to establish controls and order. In time, members decided that there was a need to establish a committee charged with the maintenance and care of the cemetery, and that the committee should be allowed to receive contributions, donations, etc. for that purpose. In 1921 a cemetery committee was established and incorporated under the rules of the State of North Carolina as BUFFALO CEMETERY ENDOWMENT, INC. The purpose, as identified by article "third" is:

"The objects for which this Corporation is formed are to preserve, enlarge, beautify and forever maintain the historical cemetery at Buffalo Presbyterian Church in Guilford County, a few miles North of the City of Greensboro, N.C. And in order to properly prosecute the objects and purposes set forth, the corporation shall have full power and authority to purchase, lease, and otherwise acquire, hold, mortgage, convey and otherwise dispose of all property; to receive, hold invest and reinvest donations and contributions; and generally, to do all things necessary or expedient for the successful prosecution of the objects and purposes for which the corporation was created."

The corporation may include up to five members voted on by the congregation. Charter members were William Pinckney Knight, M.D., William Gilmer Wharton, Henry A. Barnes, Thomas A. McKnight [Elder], and Carl L. Wharton. All are now deceased, and are buried at Buffalo Church cemetery.

THE CHURCH CEMETERY

Background

It is not known when the first burials were made at the church. Tradition suggests that the central area of the old section of the present cemetery was used from the earliest time as a communal burying area. This area is between the sites of the first and second churches. Wooden slabs and field stones were the first markers. Some stones had hand chiseled initials of the deceased. In time stone slabs became available at a stone works at Cross Creek (Fayetteville), and later at the village of Holt. Signed slab markers from both areas are represented. Some monuments reflect the early art traditional in England and our New England cemeteries.

At a some time in the past, a decision was made to remove field stone markers since no one then knew who was buried at those sites. It is suspected that it was also to make more land available for burials. All but a few field stones with hand carved initials were removed.

In the 1930's and 1940's it became fashionable to enclose a family plot with granite curbs, and for a time new burial sites were so enclosed. A later decision removed the curbs because of additional maintenance required. A few plots remain with curbs. With the passage of time, stones cut of porous rock disintegrated, some became no longer legible and were removed. Others were destroyed or defaced by vandals. Caretakers threw broken and defaced stones over the north wall of the cemetery, without record.

In the early 1970's when the land beyond the north wall of the cemetery was developed for an apartment complex, the contractor asked church officials what should be done with the stones. Unfortunately, none of the information on the stones was ever officially recorded. When church officials indicated that the stones could be disposed of, over two tons of church history went to the city dump. It is sad indeed, that their historical value was not recognized.

Vandalism is a periodic problem. In 1991 a series of stones in the old section were uprooted and overturned. Fortunately none were broken. At the same time it was found that vagabonds or homeless people had burrowed into the center of a large growth of box-woods near the large cedar tree at the Donnell section of the old part, and developed a well hidden "nest". Beer and wine bottles, old mattress parts and clothing had to be cleaned out, and regular surveillance established.

In 1913 Rev. Samuel Meek Rankin, and his wife Mary Lee Wharton catalogued the cemetery, primarily to obtain information for their books entitled Buffalo Church and Her People, and Rankins and Whartons and Their Genealogy, both printed about 1927. "Rev. Sam" made his work available to the then local chapter of the DAR, which they selectively used for their purposes. Unfortunately, in copying his records, the ladies made a number of errors of their own which were not caught before they released their work for use of others. "Rev. Sam" also left a notebook of his cemetery documentation and other information with the church. These records are under controlled use.

In the early 1940's Mrs. John Scott Welborn of High Point, a member of the DAR, made partial records of many cemeteries of the state. She and her team made a selected record of gravestones at Buffalo which has been noted in local DAR records.

In 1985 the Cemetery Committee asked for assistance in cataloging the cemetery so that there would be a record of existing markers and locations. Such a record would also provide a basis for answers being asked by family searchers whose forbears were members of the church and believed to have been buried in the cemetery. A numeric grid format was developed replacing the alpha grid locator system then being used. The survey was made. The result is maintained in a card file by the committee.

In late 1989, I desired to establish as complete a record of the cemetery as possible for historical and family research purposes. I obtained approval of the committee through Mr. Otis B. Osborne to review the existing records. In so doing, differences in records of the committee card file and the actual data on stones came to light. An examination of the Rankin and Welborn records, and comparison with church records highlighted the need to start again.

The DAR-Rankin and Welborn records were combined into one. Differences were found and noted, i.e. dates, name spellings, and omissions. The church file was then matched, and additional differences found. With this baseline I proceeded with a stone-by-stone check of monuments in the cemetery. A two-part record is the result. The first is a record of current on-site monuments. The sources are noted as being those of the church, Rankin, and myself. Some, of course, are from all three, and some are in only one. My record is the current total known to be in the cemetery.

The second record is a composite of burials for which memorial stones existed, but are no longer in place. These represent many of the stones which were destroyed and later hauled away, as well as stones which were removed and not catalogued when extensions were made to the church buildings that required land then part of the graveyard. The record is based on a composite of the DAR, Rankin and Welborn sightings, some provided by family members, and the Rankin record of the cemetery left with the church. A number of hand-carved field stones are noted.

A third record has been established from a variety of sources. It includes family knowledge, Bible records, records of Reverend Samuel M. Rankin left with the church, records of Rev. Samuel M. Rankin and his cousin William Calvin Rankin now at the Southern Historical Collection, Wilson Library, U.N.C. Chapel Hill (file 3717 NC). The purpose of this section is to document burials at the churchyard for which no grave markers exist and for which no formal records are known to exist. These early sites would have been marked with field stones or wooden slabs. As recently as January 1992, we learned of two more burials to add to this list. Information shown in [] has been abstracted from Rankin and family records.

Unfortunately, no names have been found for Negro slaves of church members who were buried in a section of the cemetery. The exact location is not now known. While we know the names of some slaves from records of wills of early church members, we cannot assume that they remained with the families, and were buried at Buffalo.

Acknowledgments

I am indebted to Messrs. Otis B. Osborne and Larry L. Kuepferle of the Cemetery Committee for their valued assistance., encouragement, and willingness to help me look for and reverify information on site. Thanks are due Reverend Christopher "Chris" Frank East, Pastor, for his support and tolerance. Special acknowledgment is due Mrs. Ann Thornlow Steed, church secretary, for her willingness to listen to my problems with the records and her general assistance in this project. I would be remiss in not mentioning my special friend Mr. Eugene Horney, Elder, who made the first arrangement with the Committee to that I could begin this project.

I am also appreciative of the assistance given by the staff of the Southern Historical Collection at the Wilson Library, University of NC, Chapel Hill. Of special help was the late Edward Winburne Fishburne, whose wife is in my family line. Some nine years ago when he was serving on the Cemetery Committee, talked to me about the historic value of the cemetery, and encouraged me to embark on this study.

The results of this project could not have been brought to print without the assistance of my daughter Cindy, who corrected my grammar, helped me to say it better, and found time in her busy schedule at Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond, VA, to work on the computer program to make it all possible. My son, Alain Charles, Warrant Officer, USCG, also was of great assistance in providing rewrites to eliminate many of my overlong paragraphs, thus improving the presentation.

The greatest assistance was provided by Patricia, my understanding wife, who made observant suggestions, endured my long hours at Buffalo Church, my research away from home, and longer hours at my computer.

THE NEW SECTION

The new Section of the cemetery is not square in form. It begins against old row line 11. It is divided into two sections separated by a central grass area which runs east/west through the old and new cemetery. The area is divided into 53 blocks containing 16 gravesites each in quadrants ABCD. An exception is the row next to old cemetery site row which is separated from the balance of the new section by the main cemetery drive running from the north wall south to the 16th street entrance. It contains only eight sites per block control. The new blocks between old "11" sites and the cemetery road are 45-AB through 53-AB. A second exception is the row lying along the Cone Cemetery fence which contains only two block sections per site.

Part one of the area on the east side of the cemetery road to the Cone Cemetery lies between the 16th street entrance and the central east/west walkway. It contains row blocks 1-ABCD through 5-ABCD; 6-ABD, and 7ABCD through 10-ABCD; 11BD, and 12ABCD through 15-ABCD. Blocks 16 through 20 lie along the Cone family fence and have only C & D sections.

Part two is the area east of the cemetery road and north of the central east/west walkway. It contains blocks 21-ABCD through 26-ABCD; 27-ABCD through 32-ABCD; 33-ABCD through 38-ABCD; 39-CD through 44 CD. Blocks 39 through 44 lie along the Cone fence. The division of old and new is as shown.

Cards for these burials will be entered into the church file. In some instances family named stones are in place in the new section, with no burials to date. In those cases the committee decision is not to carry those stones in the main file. They are included in this study.

General:

Information listed is in order as shown on the tombstone. Data included with brackets [] has been added as further identification to assist the family searcher.

The primary sources for the additional data are the church records, and the records of Reverend Samuel Meek Rankin, M.G.

Notations on deaths after 1913 in Guilford County, are from the records of the Office of Register of Deeds, Guilford County.

Undocumented stones are still found from time to time with probe poles, as committee members check areas suggested by old records or family information. One was found in 1982, well sunken below present ground levels.

BURIALS AT BUFFALO PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CEMETERY

Part III

Part III of this report records church members and children buried at this cemetery for whom grave markers no longer exist. Specific sites are no longer known. Burials were in the center section, at the old section of the cemetery.

Determination of those listed is based in part on church activity; records of Rev. Samuel Meek Rankin and William Calvin Rankin, researchers, now at the Southern Historical Collection at Wilson Library, UNC Chapel Hill, NC, located in file 3717. Record searches of the compiler; Buffalo Presbyterian and Bethel Presbyterian Church session records of Elders; knowledge of senior Buffalo Church members, as expressed to members of the cemetery committee, and family tradition as made known.

It is believed that there were others buried here for whom no knowledge remains. It is possible that some may have been re-interred to other cemeteries at a later time.
